- Can add links to websites or outside sources
- Can add text/instructions to the resources chosen
- Can create folders to group resources
- Can import existing reading lists

What Are Reading Lists?

The screenshot shows a library search interface with a sidebar on the left and a main content area on the right. The sidebar contains a navigation menu with items like 'Home', 'Modules', 'Announcements', 'Grades', 'People', 'Attendance', 'Syllabus', 'Arc', 'Quizzes', 'Discussions', 'Files', 'Outcomes', 'Collaborations', 'Assignments', 'Pages', 'Conferences', and 'Settings'. The 'Modules' item is highlighted in blue. The main content area has a search bar with the text 'Information literacy and library research' and a 'Search' button. Below the search bar is a 'Refine Search' section with two main categories: 'Remove Facets' and 'Expand your results'. The 'Remove Facets' section has a red circle with the number '1' pointing to a blue button that says 'Expand: Also search within the full text of the articles'. Below this are several checkboxes: 'Catalog Only', 'UNF Digital Commons', 'Peer Reviewed', and 'References Available'. The 'Expand your results' section has checkboxes for 'Apply equivalent subjects', 'Apply related words', and 'Also search within the full text of the articles', with the last one checked. Below these are several expandable sections: '+]Source Type', '+]Subject', '+]Publisher', '+]Publication', '+]Language', '+]Geography', '+]Category', '+]Library Location', '+]Publication Year', and '+]Content Provider'. A red circle with the number '2' points to the 'Peer Reviewed' checkbox. A red circle with the number '3' points to the '+]Publication Year' section, and a red circle with the number '4' points to the '+]Content Provider' section. The main content area shows search results. At the top, it says 'Showing 1 - 20 of 323857 for information literacy and library research'. Below this are sorting and pagination options. The first result is titled 'Hacking the Research Library: Wikipedia, Trump, and Information Literacy in the Escape Room at Fresno State'. It includes the author 'Pun, Raymond', the journal 'Academic Journal', and an abstract. A red circle with the number '5' points to a dark blue button labeled 'Add to Reading List' located below the first result. The second result is titled 'Survey of Information Literacy Instructional Practices in U.S. Academic Libraries' and includes authors 'Julien, Heidi; Gross, Melissa; Latham, Don' and the journal 'Academic Journal'.

Key: For Faculty

1. Module that contains the reading lists for your students to locate the resources you have selected.
2. Tells what type of resource you have selected (article, ebook, scholarly resource).
3. Directions for what students are to do with each resource.
4. File Type (pdf, html, or link) of the resource you have chosen.

This is a student view of the Reading List in Canvas. Faculty are the only ones who can modify their reading lists (which resources appear, their order, and their comments/directions). Canvas can maintain as many Reading lists as the faculty members would like to add.

Student View
